Leader Facing Big Decision on Gasoline Tax

Has Week to Decide What To Do About Penny Cut

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader reluctantly saddled with a revised Republican sales tax, today turned to another major decision — what to do with the GOP's five cent gasoline tax.

The governor has until midmidnight next Saturday to sign or veto the legislation or let it become law without his signature. The Republican-controlled General Assembly ignored Leader's request that the present six cents per gallon gas tax be reenacted to help finance an ambitious 720 million dollar highways building program.

The GOP flatly told the governor he does not need the extra money and knocked out the "extra" emergency penny levy on the fuel to make the gas tax five cents for the two-year fiscal period starting June 1.

The backbone of the 995 million dollar GOP "tax package", the 3 per cent sales tax, became law Thursday midnight without Leader's signature. The governor said he did not veto the legislation he found unfavorable because the Republicans agreed to revise the enforcement and collection provisions.

The governor Friday made another plea to the Legislature to rewrite the sales tax law to make it "more equitable."

"I now reiterate my recommended action that the General Assembly appoint a committee of distinguished experts—not answerable to any political party or lobby—to set to work at once to draw up new sales tax legislation," he said. "If the General Assembly does this immediately, it can replace present stop-gap legislation with a responsible law that serves the people's interests."

New Amendments

Amendments to the main sales tax law were expected to be passed by the House Monday and sent to the Senate for approval. Republicans estimate the tax will return between 480 and 500 million dollars. The administration, citing provisions spelling out exemptions for shipbuilders, manufacturers and public utilities, places the yield at 448 million dollars or less.

The governor has signed two other tax bills which were part of the Republicans' "no new taxes" program and two others are in the House for concurrence on minor Senate amendments. The package plus taxes now on the books would yield $1,500,000,000 in the next two years by GOP estimates. Leader requested a $1,600,000,000 General Fund budget, 100 million dollars over the GOP figure.

Here is the way the tax package stands:

—The 3 per cent sales tax was made permanent without Gov. Leader's signature.

—The five cent tax on each package of cigarettes was made permanent with the governor's signature.

—The governor also signed legislation extending the six-mill temporary portion of the 14-mill tax on gross receipts of public utilities.

—Legislation to make the 6 per cent corporation net income levy permanent is in the House for concurrence on Senate amendments.

—The House also has Senate amended legislation to extend the 1 per cent real estate transfer tax another two years.

The Senate returns Monday at 3 p.m. and the House at 4 30 p.m.

Ike's Former Caddy Demands A 'Retraction'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — Willie Frank (Cemetery) Perteet, a sad-eyed shuffling caddy by day but a bouncy drummer boy at night, demands a "retraction" today as to why he was "dethroned" as golf-club chooser for President Eisenhower.

Cemetery has been succeeded by Slim Jackson, another Negro and assistant caddy master at the Augusta National Golf Course where the Masters Tournament is now being played. Mr. Eisenhower has a cottage on the course and will be here this month.

Ed Dudley, Augusta National pro, made the change. He said Cemetery was replaced because he was getting a little old and had a hard time keeping pace with Mr. Eisenhower, who tees up and shoots while his partners are still taking practice swings.

To this, Cemetery replies he is only 51 and can move just as fast as any caddy at Augusta. Cemetery says the President has never said a harsh word to him on the course although Mr. Eisenhower gets a little unhappy when he misses a shot, as what golfer doesn't, according to the caddy.

Cemetery bases his main case on the fact he lives it up most of the night at the Club 13 in Augusta, a segregated night spot with Negro entertainers. He plays the drums and shares vocalist honors with a tan contralto. He says these duties require far more vitality than caddying and he wants a hearing on his replacement for the presidential foursomes.

Baby Recovering From Rare Heart Operation Today

CLEVELAND (UP) —The two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton was reported recovering today from a rare heart operation correcting a circulatory defect that threatened his life since birth.

The four hour operation was performed at City Hospital here Friday by Dr. F. A. Simeone, chief of surgery, on Charles Bernard Newton Jr.

The operation corrected a "patent ductus," or condition in which an artery leading to the heart fails to close soon after birth.

Surgeons severed the artery at one point, then closed it with sutures to provide normal blood circulation.

Mrs. Newton said the baby had been given regular doses of digitalis, powerful heart stimulant generally used as a standby drug for elderly persons with heart disease, from the time the child's illness was discovered until the operation.

"I guess we won't need that medicine anymore," Mrs. Newton said after the operation. "The doctors told me my baby will be all right from now on."

SUMMERFIELD MAY SLASH MAIL DELIVERIES — Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield uses a chart at a news conference to explain why he plans to discontinue Saturday postal deliveries and make other drastic cuts in service unless Congress restores a $30 million slash in funds.

Congress to Loosen Purse to Prevent Mail Service Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congress today appeared ready to loosen the national purse strings next week to keep Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield from drastically cutting postal service.

Summerfield has in effect given the House Appropriations Committee a week of grace to give his department an emergency 47 million dollars appropriation or take responsibility for causing the service cuts.

The committee, which only wanted to give him 17 million dollars, was expected to capitulate under the mounting public pressure. It scheduled a meeting next Friday to decide what to do.

Summerfield had been expected to issue the orders effective today to curtail service including a stop to all Saturday mail deliveries and Saturday post office window service. But late Friday he scheduled the cutback for next Saturday.

Denies "Week's Grace"

He insisted at a news conference that he was not giving Congress "a week's grace" to give him the money.

But he acted after the Appropriations Committee decided to give him the 17 million dollars and promised to consider the other 30 million dollars next Friday. He also said the cutback would be called off if the committee action is "favorable."

Committee member John J Rooney (D-NY) predicted the committee would approve all or almost all of the 47 million dollars. He said Friday's voting indicated that.

But Rooney indicated the hard feelings against Summerfield would not soon subside. Summerfield has been accused of "sandbagging" Congress and "holding a gun" at its head.

Confident Of Support

Summerfield has said he is "confident" that if given the opportunity Congress will support him. He said the majority of the Appropriations Committee stood with him on the matter.

But that excludes Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) who has made it clear he will put up a sharp fight next Friday to hold new funds down to the 17 million dollars recommended by the subcommittee. Cannon would not predict the outcome.

Summerfield said the increased volume of mail and the expansion of services to nearly one million new homes accounts for much of the drain on post office funds. In addition, he said postal pay increases were voted by Congress after the new budget went into effect last year.

Bids Are Asked For Construction Of Erie Thruway

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department said today construction bids will be sought soon on two sections of the projected 46½ mile Erie Thruway which will connect New York and Ohio across the narrow northwest neck of Pennsylvania.

Two segments of the seventy section, 35 million dollar highway were approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and design of three other sections is underway, a department spokesman said.

The spokesman explained that bidding was delayed when the federal agency asked for a number of changes in the highway design to conform with the federal interstate highway program standards. The thruway originally was designed as a toll road.

Plans call for the Ohio end of the road to terminate about four-tenths of a mile south of U.S. Route 20 on the east. It will be about seven-tenths of a mile north of U.S. Route 20 at the Pennsylvania-New York line.

The road will have 13 interchanges and will consist of two 24-foot lanes separated by a 56-foot medial strip except where the two lanes converge at highway crossing bridges. The highway is expected to handle an average of nearly 12,000 vehicles daily.

Begin Drive on Unlicensed Dogs

The dog law enforcement officer of Westmoreland County today said he will begin a drive to round up all unlicensed dogs on April 15.

The penalty for owning or harboring an unlicensed dog is a fine of not less than $5 and costs, or not more than $100 and costs or 30 days in jail.

Licenses for male dogs is $1.10; female, $2.10, and spayed female, $1.10.

A license can be obtained at the county treasurer's office or ordered through an alderman, a justice of the peace or notary public.

The 1956 license expired Jan. 15.

Many Hungarian Refugees Are Attempting Suicide

VIENNA, Austria (UP) — At least 48 Hungarian refugees have attempted suicide in Austrian camps since learning that immigration to the United States has been stopped, it was reported today.

A representative of the Catholic Caritas Mission reported the figure at an emergency meeting of foreign voluntary relief agencies working in Austria.

The meeting was called to map measures to cope with crowded conditions in the camps and speed up the transfer of refugees out of the country.

The Caritas representative said most of those who tried to kill themselves have relatives in the United States whom they wanted to join.

Charlotte Teuber, chief social worker on the Hungarian refugee camp at Traiskirchen, said she had received reports of at least 10 attempted suicides, two by youngsters in her own camp.

Camp personnel have been alerted for more attempts, she said.

Traiskirchen is 15 miles south of Vienna.

School Building In Belle Vernon On State List

The Belle Vernon elementary school building on Wood street is one of the 21 school structures in Fayette County that should be condemned, it was claimed by the State Department of Public Instruction following a survey of school buildings in the state.

Members of the Department of Public Instruction said that Fayette, Allegheny and Lackawanna counties were the worst where elementary schools were concerned.

One school official said the Belle Vernon building is about 82 years old.

Also placed on the condemned list was Brownsville High School.

A number of schools mentioned in the state report contained deficient stairways and exits and had heavily-oiled wooden floors which was termed "non-correctible" fire hazards.

The survey showed that students attend classes on the second and third floors of 379 antiquated buildings which should be replaced as soon as possible.

To Receive Bids On County Project

HARRISBURG (UP—The state Highways Department will receive bids May 3 on three road improvement projects in western Pennsylvania:

Westmoreland County — Construction of 4.59 miles of Traffic Route 31 southeast of New Stanton to near the road's intersection with Legislative Route 970. The project calls for 24 foot lanes on each side of a divided highway. Also involved is construction of a plate girder bridge and four I-beam spans.

Garland was pronounced dead on arrival at Latrobe Hospital with multiple skull fractures and internal injuries.

State police said Garland's car collided with a truck operated by Frank Patrick, 38, of Johnstown, and then bounced into a car driven by Maurice O. Tarr Jr., 22, of Youngstown, Pa. The accident occurred on Rte. 30, six miles east of Greensburg.

Strong Winds in Area; Flood Threat Easing

By UNITED PRESS

The danger of floods in Western Pennsylvania eased today and the wind velocity was scheduled to slow down to occasional gusts at 25 to 30 miles an hour.

The weather bureau reported wind gusts of up to 73 miles an hour were recorded at Greater Pittsburgh airport Friday. Westerly to northwesterly winds were in prospect today but would be only "blustery," according to the weather bureau.

There was a likihood of some light rain today but the depth would not be of any significant quantity. Pittsburgh rivers crested at 17.9 feet Friday, more than eight feet below flood stage. There was limited parking today at the Monongahela Wharf.

Wind warnings were issued throughout Friday afternoon and early evening. But at 9 p.m. the weather bureau said there was no danger of devastating winds.

Winds of gale-like force struck northwestern West Virginia, eastern and northwestern Ohio and the extreme southwestern tip of New York.

Two small buildings were damaged heavily by winds in the Aliquippa-South Heights area. The storm caused a landslide along Route 930, creating a major traffic jam in the area.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour lashed the Erie district. Trees and power lines were toppled. TV Station WICU was out of commission for two hours because of a power failure.

Swollen streams in the Butler County area, including the Connoquenessing Creek, receded to normal pools.

Egypt to Take Part in 15-nation Suez Parley, Cairo Newspaper Says

Conference to Be Held in Geneva; Israel not Invited

By UNITED PRESS

An authoritative Cairo newspaper reported today that Egypt has agreed to participate in a 15-nation conference on neutral grounds to thrash out a Suez Canal settlement.

The newspaper Al Gomhouria, owned by the government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said the conference would be held in Geneva under the chairmanship of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

There was no immediate confirmation of this from Egyptian officials or other interested capitals.

Al Gomhouria said Israel would not be invited to the conference. This would bring a loud and strong protest from Jerusalem.

Israel has insisted it be given the same rights as any other nation in navigating the waterway and has put out hints it will test these rights soon. Officials in Washington said this might result in a major Middle East blowup if Egypt barred an Israel ship.

Conducts Discussions

U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare has been conducting top-level discussions in Cairo attempting to get Egypt to moderate its insistence on a "one man show" in operating the canal.

There was no immediate indication how much success he was having.

The tiny Mediterranean nation of Lebanon today became the first Arab state to give parliamentary approval of the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East.

By a 30-2 vote the Lebanese legislature endorsed the March 16 action of its government in wholeheartedly accepting the U.S. plan to combat Communist infiltration in Middle Eastern countries.

The parliamentary action prompted the resignations of four members who protested Lebanon was turning its back on concerted action with other Arab states.

But Lebanon, half Christian and half Moslem, is the most westernized of the Arab nations and the protest was not likely to have any great effect on the government.

More Disunity Reported

Another report of disunity among the Arab nations came from Amman. Diplomatic sources in Jerusalem said King Hussein of Jordan has served notice on Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia that unless they honor their obligations to replace Britain's annual subsidy he will accept American aid.

On the other side of the ledger a joint Egyptian-Sudanese communique issued in Cairo said Sudan had endorsed Egypt's policy of "positive neutrality" and nonalignment with either the East or the West.

U.N. Assistant Secretary General Ralph Bunche left for U.N. headquarters in New York today with a report to his boss on the success of the U.N. Emergency Force in preventing a new Middle East conflict.

He gave reporters the impression his job was strictly to survey the operation and execute decisions made by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. He said he had made no "agreements" with Egyptian officials.

Porpoise Dies From Swallowing Rubber Sphere

MARINELAND, Fla. (UP)— A talented porpoise died Friday from the effects of swallowing a small rubber sphere which his trainer had been using to teach him how to play baseball.

Algae, the eight-year-old star in Marine Studios' porpoise show died while veterinarians tried to remove the rubber ball.

Trainers said the talented mammal was learning a new act, "baseball," the latest addition to his long repertoire, when the accident happened.

X-rays showed the ball, four inches in diameter, was lodged in Algae's first stomach and veterinarians tried to extract it with grasping forceps which were inserted by tube through the mammal's mouth. The operation was performed with Algae out of water, on a table where attendants constantly bathed the ailing porpoise with water and wet rags.

But the sleek porpoise died while attempts were being made to remove the ball with the improvised instrument. Regular animal forceps were not large enough to extract the object.

Marine Studios publicist W. S. Chambers Jr. said Algae swallowed the ball while learning to take it in his mouth, "throw" it to the "batter" (his trainer) and then protest the decision when someone called the "pitch" a "ball."

Flying Saucer 'Expert' Held in Fraud Charge

MOBILE, Ala. (UP)—Fast-talking Harold J. Berney, 58, who says he took a flying saucer trip to the planet Venus was ordered taken on another trip Friday to stand trial on charges of defrauding a secretary out of $40,000.

U.S. District Judge Daniel H. Thomas ordered Berney removed to Washington, D.C., to stand trial on the charges. The FBI arrested Berney in nearby Prichard March 25th on a complaint that he defrauded Miss Pauline E. Gobel out of her life savings.

U.S. Attorney Thomas Haas opposed the bond reduction stating that Berney "has been in and out of jail since 1917, serving at least three long terms for grand larceny, fraudulent stock dealings and embezzlement."

Haas said Berney also swindled two other persons out of $20,000 and $10,000 in connection with his so-called space jaunt.

Berney allegedly told Miss Gobel he had visited Venus by flying saucer and persauded her to invest her money in a scheme to set up communications between Earth and Venus.

Planning Groups Exchange Views On Development

Rostraver Township and Monessen planning commissioners exchanged views on area development at a conference Thursday evening.

The Monessen commission displayed basic maps prepared as a part of the comprehensive community plan, including highway and territorial maps for the area immediately surrounding Monessen.

The Rostraver commissioners explained a proposed zoning for the township, approval of which is still pending.

Clair Browneller and E. F. Carter, who represented Rostraver at the meeting, indicated the township commission has been handicapped by vacancies and that early attention should be given to remedying this condition.

Both groups agreed to maintain future contact on plans affecting areas of mutual interest.

The Monessen commission was to meet this afternoon with Donald C. Duvall, Pittsburgh Steel Company vice president, concerning long-range redevelopment plans in the West end of downtown Monessen.

Area Woman's Brother Victim in Los Angeles

A brother of a Belle Vernon woman was one of the six persons killed when four men, full of booze and hate, touched off a flash fire in a crowded saloon in Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday night.

Dead is Harry (Spy) Robinson, 63, a brother of Mrs. Von Ewart, of 130 Jean street, Belle Vernon. Robinson lived in Uniontown until he went to California in 1947.

Police today extended their search for two men following the arrest of two others on charges they cremated Robinson, four other men and a woman with flaming gasoline in a quiet neighborhood bar.

Clyde Bates, 36, an ex-convict, and Oscar Brenhaug, 44, were arrested within a few hours after the tiny Club Mecca burst into flames late Wednesday. They were booked on suspicion of murder.

Witnesses said four men had been ousted from the bar for annoying a woman patron and returned later, pouring a five-gallon bucket of gasoline into the cocktail lounge. Then one of them tossed a small ball of fire—probably a burning match book—into the fuel.

Bates was identified in a police lineup by the bartender, Larry Fenton, 24, as the man who poured the gasoline on the bar floor while most of the 20 patrons were not aware what was taking place. Before an alarm could be sounded flames shot in every direction, trapping the six persons who died and injuring three others.

While in Uniontown Robinson worked at the old Enamel Plant.

He is survived by two children Eleanor and Alfred, both of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. Ewart and Bertha Byrte, of Uniontown, and a brother, James, of Waynesburg.

Relatives in the district said services will be held in Los Angeles.

Marines Criticized By Grieving Father

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Pentagon promised today to be more sympathetic in the future when informing parents of the tragic news that a son or daughter has died in the service of his country.

The Pentagon reacted immediately after a grieving father said he would protest to Congress and to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson about the "crude and heartless" manner in which he was notified of the death of his Marine son in a plane crash Wednesday at Cherry Point, N.C.

A Pentagon spokesman said Wilson and his top officials would deal promptly with the matter to see that it doesn't happen again.

Stanley R. Fortuna, member of the Board of Selectmen of Fairfield, Conn., expressed resentment and hurt over a telegram he received telling him of the death of his 22-year-old son, Lt. Richard Fortuna.

He said the telegram — from Maj. Gen. J. C. Munn, commanding general of the Cherry Point Marine Aircraft Wing — expressed regret, gave tentative funeral arrangements, and said the government would allow him $125 to bury his son.

"I sent the general a telegram thanking him for the message and for the $125 in exchange for my son's life," Fortuna said bitterly at Fairfield.

"The Marines could find a better way to notify parents of deceased servicemen. Why couldn't they send a local representative of the Marines to notify us?"

A Pentagon spokesman said the Armed Forces Policy Council, which is comprised of Wilson and the service secretaries, would give the matter prompt study. He indicated action would be taken to make Navy and Marine Corps methods conform with those of the Army and Air Force.

The latter two services send telegraphic messages when there are deaths in which they express regrets and give available facts about causes. When they have learned that a family has received the notification, they send another telegram outlining funeral procedures.

The Navy and Marines send a single message in which they combine their expression of regrets with requests for family desires in regard to burial arrangements.

Storms Die Out In Nation

By UNITED PRESS

The spring storm that ravaged most of the nation with deadly tornadoes and high gales appeared to be dying out today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Chicago reported the letup but said it was accompanied by steep jumps and drops in the mercury columns.

The expiring lash of the storm's tail, however, snapped at the eastern half of the nation Friday night. Winds of 90 mph velocity bowled down Toledo, Ohio streets, lifted a Lakes freighter from its moorings and wrenched out at least 50 power lines.

A United Press tally revealed a total of 45 weather-caused deaths during the past week.

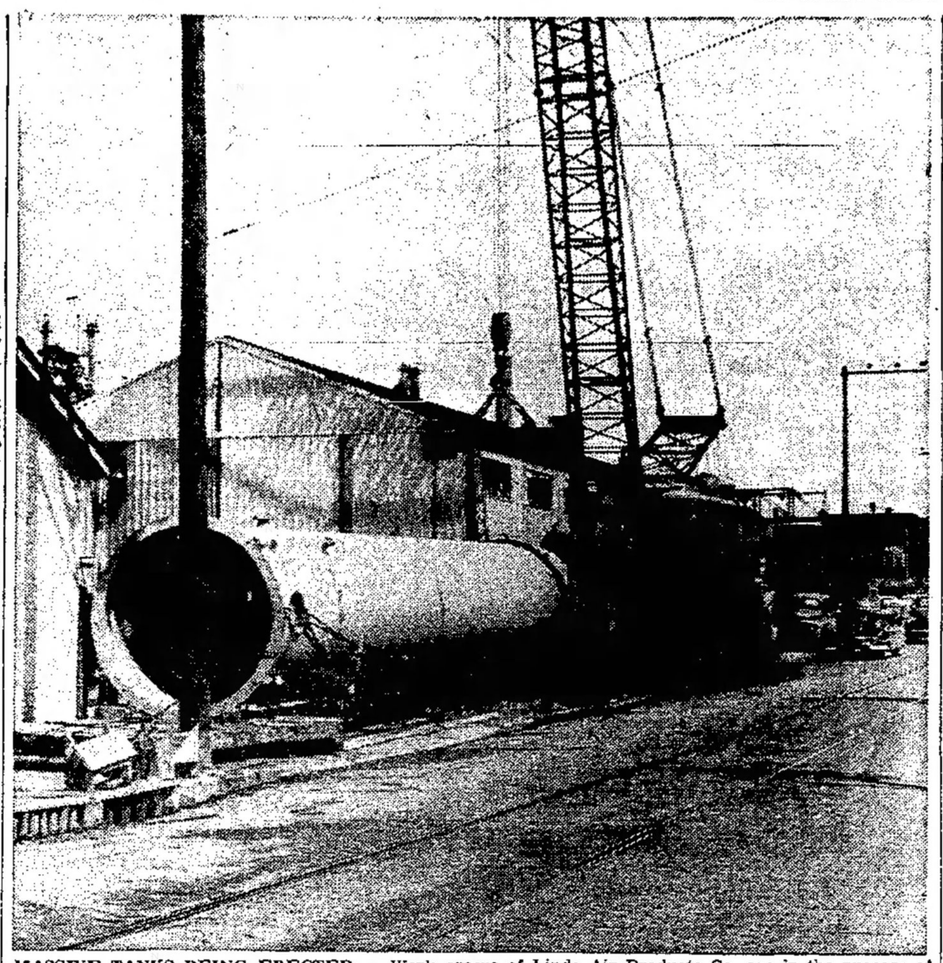
Tornadoes were responsible for 19 of these fatalities. There were 11 in Texas, five in Oklahoma, two in Georgia and one in Mississippi. Blizzard and storms killed five persons in Colorado, three each in Illinois and Indiana, two in Mississippi, South Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska and Wisconsin, and one in Texas, Ohio, Iowa, Minnesota and Utah.

Several patients in an Erie, Mich., clinic were soaked by a driving thunderstorm Friday night when 81 mph winds ripped the clinic roof off.

No injuries were reported from what was described as a small tornado which struck at Lancaster, S.C., Friday night, damaging a schoolhouse.

The storm front which touched off the twisters throughout the South finally moved off into the Atlantic Friday. North Carolina suffered from swollen streams as well as from wind and storm damage. Mountain rivers in the West, bloated with more than four inches of rain, posed a serious threat in the state. But reports indicated the water level was dropping slowly today.

Part of the storm gave a departing swat to the Ohio Valley. The Ohio State Highway Patrol reported sections of 31 highways under water. A flood was narrowly averted when a small dam at West Carrollton, Ohio, broke. Water was safely diverted in a canal, however, by an emergency gate, protecting Miamisburg fro mthe flood.



MASSIVE TANKS BEING ERECTED — Work crews of Linde Air Products Co. are in the process of erecting eight giant oxygen tanks at the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. The tanks, which measure eight feet in diameter and 40-feet long, are to be installed vertically near 11th street and Donner avenue. Linde, which will operate the oxygen output, will supply high-purity oxygen at a rate of 99½ tons per day for maintenance work and 95 per cent pure oxygen for open hearth at a rate of 125 tons per day.

'Rosy' O'Donnell Next on List to Succeed LeMay

WASHINGTON (UP(— Lt. Gen. Emmett "Rosy" O'Donnell Jr.— one of the first of the big bomber pilots — is high on the list of possible successors to Gen. Curtis E. LeMay as Strategic Air commander.

O'Donnell is now deputy chief of staff of the Air Force for personnel, but that is not his natural environment. He has been a bomber commander off and on since 1940 and served as chief of America's bomber force in the Korean War.

There are several eminent Air Force officers in the running for the big job LeMay will vacate next summer to become vice chief of staff. But if "Rosy" O'Donnell does not get the job a large segment of the Air Force will be surprised.

The 50-year-old, Brooklyn-born officer was one of the nation's first B17 commanders and played a leading role in the bombing of Japan with B29 Superforts.

O'Donnell served four years as football coach at West Point in the 1930's.

O'Donnell joined the Strategic Air Command in September 1948, shortly before LeMay became SAC commander. O'Donnell was commander of the 15th Air Force, one of the three air forces comprising SAC, and took a part of that force to the Far East at the start of the Korean War.

Jehovah Group Sends Protest Note to Soviet

The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, governing body of Jehovah's Witnesses, has sent a strongly worded letter of protest to Premier Nikolai Bulganin, of the U.S.S.R., charging the Soviets with wholesale arrests and mass movements of Jehovah's Witnesses to slave labor camps in Siberia.

This announcement was made today by Angelo Galuppo, presiding minister of the Monessen congregation.

The letter was written to accompany a composite petition that had been adopted over a period of nine months by a total of 462,936 Witnesses, meeting in 199 assemblies throughout the world.

It called attention to the 7,000 Witnesses known to be in slave camps in the Soviet Union and, requesting their release, proposed that a delegation be permitted to proceed from the Society's headquarters in Brooklyn, N. Y., to Moscow to fully acquaint the Soviet government with the true aims and purposes of Jehovah's Witnesses.

The New Sales Tax

GOVERNOR Leader has wisely decided to allow the revised sales tax bill to become law although without his specific approval. To have vetoed the legislation, as some of his fellow Democrats were advising him to do, would almost certainly have precipitated another partisan wrangle.

In a statement announcing his decision, the Governor again criticized the sales tax bill, calling it "unfair" and "bad" and a "give-away" to some favored businesses and industries. He said the Republican party must take full responsibility for the tax.

Time is going to have to tell whether this characterization of the legislation is accurate or whether it represents political posturing on Mr. Leader's part. It is fairly normal for a politician to try to get credit in the public eye for governmental services and improvements while passing to the opposition any blame for the necessary taxes. Without charging that this is the Governor's sole motive in this instance, the long record of the partisan contest over taxes at Harrisburg suggests that it could have entered into his thinking.

We are inclined to feel that, as usual, the truth lies somewhere between the positions of Governor Leader and the Republican proponents of the sales tax bill. It is probably not the wisest, most equitable bill that could have been drawn, but there is no real evidence as yet that it is as bad as the Governor says it is.

What we must expect now is a vigorous, efficient collection of the tax. And since Mr. Leader's record on that score is anything but good, he has some work to do to make the law serve its purpose as best he can.

Don't Quit Now

A COMMITTEE of the state House of Representatives has turned thumbs down — without explanation — on a bill which would have made it possible for Monessen and Donora to be represented on the authority which supplies water to the two communities, along with Charleroi.

This authority is now controlled exclusively by Charleroi, which happens to be the smallest of the three towns, and the impropriety of this is self-evident. If we are going to have public ownership of utilities, then certainly the control and management of the services should be as broadly representative as possible.

The local situation is not unique. It exists in several neighborhoods throughout the state, and since the authority concept continues to spread, it is likely that more of these inequitable arrangements will develop unless the legislature does something to prevent it.

The chairman of the House Municipal Corporations Committee advises us that his group "felt it was not desirable to report out legislation of this kind at this time". But we would be interested to know to whom such a bill was not "desirable". Certainly it is desirable to those communities which are paying for essential public services without having a say in their management.

We hope Representative Maxwell, of Monessen, who introduced the bill, will not give up. The matter is important enough to deserve his continuing attention. And he should have the active support of the councils and other public and civic bodies of Monessen and Donora.

Better Athletics

MONESSEN S school officials are to be complimented for the progress they are making in developing a more diversified athletics and physical education program, at least in the High School and Junior High.

They are doing this by providing facilities and coaching for the so-called "minor" sports such as baseball, track, tennis and volleyball. The only reason these sports are "minor", of course, is because they don't attract big crowds and receipts. So far as the participating students are concerned, they are just as valuable — in some cases more so — than the major sports football and basketball

Only People Wanted Yarborough

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — At 4:40 the other morning I was faithfully following Secretary Wilson's advice "to do what's right and you'll sleep well with yourself," when jubilant Texans began calling me to announce the sweeping victory of Ralph Yarborough for the U. S. Senate.

Mr. Pearson

"All the newspapers in Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio were against Yarborough," reported the Texans, "plus most of the other newspapers. Yet a liberal Democrat beat a field of 19 candidates.

"It's like the sales-meeting of the dogfood company," explained Bill Kittrell of Dallas.

"The sales manager said, 'We've got the best publicity in the world. All the newspapers are for us. We've got the best advertising in the world. And we've got the best sales force in the world. Yet we're not selling dogfood. What's the matter?' "

"That" concluded Kittrell, "was the trouble with the Republicans and the Shivers Democrats. They had all the newspapers in Texas, all the money, all the publicity and all the advertising. But the people didn't like 'em."

Conflict of Interest

While Congress is investigating conflicts of interest, some of its own members have been caught in shocking conflicts that would have caused an administration official to be fired. Latest example is Arkansas' affable Congressman Oren Harris, who bought a quarter interest in a television station at the same time he passes on television legislation.

What's more he paid only $5,000 for 25 per cent of KRBB-TV at El Dorado, Ark., which is probably the year's biggest television bargain. He couldn't have done better on one of TV's top quiz shows.

Of course Harris happens to be chairman of the powerful House Commerce Committee which not only handles all television legislation, but also has power over the Federal Communications Commission. In fact, he personally presides over the Communications subcommittee which deals directly with TV matters.

This means the FCC, which regulates TV stations, must come to Harris for legislative favors. To put the agency even more under his thumb, he recently formed a subcommittee to investigate the FCC.

Obviously, Harris would be a terrific asset for any television station. The FCC would think twice about turning down a request from a station partly owned by him.

Got Bargain

This may explain how he was able to buy one-fourth of KRBB-TV at such a remarkably low price. FCC records show the station's "net capitalization" is $150,000. One-fourth of $150,000 is considerably more than Harris's $5,000 purchase price.

The records also show that the station cost an estimated $110,000 to build.

Significantly, Congressman Harris is now pushing an application to increase KRBB's power from 24,000 to 316,000 watts, which will make the station worth over $350,000.

KRBB-TV is the only television station in south Arkansas and has its choice of network programs. It can be picked up by 325,000 sets which gives it an estimated viewing audience of 800,000. In other words, Harris is buying into a valuable piece of property for his trifling $5,000.

Dr. Joe Rushton, KRBB-TV president, explained to this column that the station is still in debt, so Harris's bargain is not as big as it appears. He offered Harris a quarter interest because they are boyhood friends, he said, and because Harris helped get the station started.

U. S. Gains in Missile Race

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The United States has achieved a sensational scientific breakthrough in missile development.

This accomplishment means that the 1500-mile I.R.B.M. (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile), breathlessly sought by the Army as essential to retain the balance of power against the Soviet Union, will be ready for American forces, for British forces, perhaps for other allies far sooner than any one had dared hope.

Mr. Drummond

It is now the informed judgment of many at the Pentagon who are privy to the facts that the I.R.B.M. can before long be moved out of the prototype stage into production so that in the span of 12 months they can begin to be deployed for combat use to American and selected Allied bases abroad.

This brings the atomic-warhead, land-based missile within striking distance of vulnerable Soviet territory in the visible future.

It leaves the U. S. missile experts reasonably certain that the Soviets will be unable to exceed, perhaps not able to match, the speed with which the U. S. is bringing the I.R.B.M. into operational use.

Ahead of Schedule

If all goes well from here out — the specialists are holding their breath but are confident that they are over the hump — the coveted Intermediate will be coming off the assembly line one to three years earlier than forecast.

Until very recently the official projection has been four years before the first useful I.R.B.M. would be available.

At Bermuda last month at the conclusion of the Macmillan-Eisenhower talks, Secretary of State Dulles estimated that it would be two to four years before we would be able to supply Britain with the promised missiles.

In light of what is now becoming known in Washington, a highly suggestive observation lately came from the Norwegian Minister of Defense, Nils Handel. He may have been speaking wishfully or intuitively or with knowledge, but he said that missile development is coming much more rapidly than anyone had expected and that he would like to see Norwegian forces being trained now to use the I.R.B.M. from the U. S. arsenal.

It develops that Mr. Handel is not being too forehanded. The prospect is that the Norwegians are not going to be bowled over by Soviet Premier Bulganin's threat that Norway faces atomic devastation if it adds American missiles to its defenses.

'Bugs' Remain

There remain "bugs" in the 1,500-mile Intermediate which will have to be eliminated before the production signal can be given. Undoubtedly the judgment of the experts that the toughest problems are behind them stems in part from the work which has been done since the Army's Research and Development Group tested a missile vehicle about six months ago. This test must have been more successful than was admitted at the time. While no official public report has been made, it is admitted that at this critical test the missile vehicle traveled a distance of 3,000 miles after reaching a height of 600 miles and was "on target."

This suggests that important components which will ultimately go into the completed "Jupiter" — a one-stage, not a three-stage missile as tested — performed encouragingly well and that Jupiter's ultimate range will exceed the 1500 miles set for it on the drafting board.

How far along the Soviets have now gotten is bound to be speculative. The only safe assumption is that they are putting the highest priority on getting both the I.R.B.M. and the I.C.B.M. (Intercontinental Ballistic Missile) of 5,000 mile range. Sen. Stuart Symington, chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee investigating defense, reported this week that the Russians have test-fired 50 rockets at a range of about 800 miles and there can be little doubt that the missile race between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. is extremely close.

Intended as Deterrent

Without the scientific breakthrough from which the U.S. is now profiting, we would be at a grievous disadvantage.

The deepest American hope is that these missiles will never be used. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was speaking for both President Eisenhower and himself when he said at Bermuda recently: "If these missiles are ever used, it will mean the failure of the entire purpose of which they have been devised."

Their purpose is deterrent. The West's missile effort is designed to dampen any temptation of the Kremlin to risk attack.

'Nationalistic Nonsense' Marks Local Politics

By HARRY R. PORE, Jr.

It will not come as news to those who have read The Daily Independent for any length of time that we think there has been entirely too much emphasis upon nationalities in our local politics in Monessen.

We have inveighed editorially against this condition for almost as long as I can remember because we have felt that it acts as a yoke around the community's neck which keeps us from getting the ablest possible management of our public affairs.

From what I hear about the current primary campaign in the city, it could hardly be said that we have made much progress against this evil. I'm afraid, in fact, that it's as bad as ever — or nearly so.

A man who has been active in Monessen politics for many years and who is very much interested in the present campaign although not himself a candidate was trying to tell me the other day about some of the maneuvering that is taking place. And if a stranger had overheard the conversation, he might have thought we were discussing something going on in the United Nations instead of in local politics in an American city.

It's This Way:

The Italians, he was telling me, are split and won't be voting as a bloc this time as they usually do. But the "Slavs" (the term was his, not mine) are being pretty well lined up for a certain set of candidates, except that there may be some defections among the Russians and Ukrainians in the First Ward. The Croatians, he thinks, will be doing thus and so.

The Greeks, my informant said, aren't as yet committed but are being worked on. And I forget what he told me about the Hungarians, the Poles, the Negroes and a couple of other groups he mentioned. (After about 15 minutes of this sort of talk I find my attention wanes.)

At any rate, this is the way our local campaigns are worked out to a large extent. The typical strategy consists of playing this group against that or combining one group with another in an effort to put together a winning combination on election day. The details of how this is done get pretty complicated sometimes — certainly they are much too devious for me to understand, much less try to explain them.

And, of course, the situation is not unique in Monessen. It exists in greater or less degree in many industrial communities where there are large numbers of people who have come, or whose immediate forbearers have come, fairly recently from other countries.

But I have never been able to satisfy myself that it really needs to continue as long as it has here. After a generation or two, it seems reasonable to think that nationality differences would begin to disappear where they are not relevant, and certainly they are not relevant when it comes to choosing the officials of a city government or school district.

Probably Just Habit

This makes me think that the condition persists here because it has become a habit which we don't want to take the trouble to break. I know some of our local political leaders well enough to know that, in their hearts and minds, they do not feel the nationalistic differences of which they make use in their campaigns. They know just as well as I do that the test of a good councilman isn't what country of Europe his parents came from. Yet when they plan their vote-getting strategy, many of them do it deliberately on this basis.

To say that this isn't good for Monessen hardly requires any elaborate proof. It distracts the public's attention from the problems and needs of the community, which are the real business of the citizens and their leaders. And it concentrates public attention upon matters which have nothing to do with the work of the local government.

We can consider ourselves fortunate, I think, that the system does not produce worse results than it does. And perhaps that is because some of our officials have had the good sense, once they were elected to think a little but about Monessen and not so much about the meaningless shenanigans which put them in office.

But I can't avoid the feeling that, if we could get rid of this nationalistic nonsense we could raise the intellectual level of our local political life by several notches. We could get more people and more able people interested in politics, and the effect of that would quickly make itself evident in many important ways.

Waterfowl Observed in Marshland Hike

By JOHN H. DAY

A speaking chore at the weekend brought me within striking distance of one of the country's most famous marshland areas, where waterfowl by the thousands find stop-over haven and rest during the great migration flights. I had to battle my way through a last-ditch blizzard as March tried to go out in the grand manner, but the snow was gone next morning and skim ice on the dawning roadside puddles was succumbing to the blandishments of the sun even as I shivered into my hiking clothes. The breeze came off the march with a real nip in its teeth, and I was glad for the comfort of an extra jacket.

Hardly had I turned into the railroad right-of-way which edges one section of the marsh when a blad-pate duck in all the glory of his mating plumage flew in and sat down with a discreet splash. In the full sun his shining white "pate" fairly gleamed as I picked him up in the binoculars. He didn't seem too excited when he discovered me standing there. He merely turned up another notch of steam and rowed out to the middle of the marsh.

Farther out the glasses picked up a small coterie of canvasbacks, those sloped heads unmistakable. These fellows were diving, probably feeding on the buds and roots of eel grass, which grows completely under water. The bolder bald pates often swim with the canvasbacks, stealing the morsels torn from the grass beds the minute the divers' heads appear above the water.

Taste Varies

Famed as the darling of the epicures, the canvasback is only as tasty as the food it fattens on. When the eel grass fails him and he has to pick up a living of fish, lizards and other animal diet, the canvasback can be as tough and rank on the table as the fishiest of "fish" ducks. He doesn't stop over too often on my neighborhood ponds. It was a pleasure to renew acquaintance with this red-eyed diver.

I found a seat on some piling and tried to hide from the searching wind. Before me stretched the shimmering marsh, tiny wavelets flashing countless messages to those who can read the flashing code compounded of sun and wind and water. The little willows along the banks had found small strings of pearls suddenly adorning their twigs. Red-winged blackbirds must admire these pearls too, for it seemed that every willow had its red-shouldered dandy in attendance, perched somewhere in the branches, singing the redwing's "O-Ka-lee!" and already disputing nesting areas with his fellows.

While I lazed there, hoping for the wind to lull and the sun to get warmer, three herring gulls came floating over in magnificent, effortless flight. They soared into the breeze and dipped and turned with a wild, free grace wondrous to behold. Then they planed down to sit awhile on the water, dwarfing the small ducks and losing their air-borne beauty. Later three small hawks came soaring over the same course but higher, playing and mock-attacking each other as they moved across the sky.

Solo Concert

There was a solo concert going on in the midst of the redwings' constant uproar. This spluttering, squeaking song, delivered with great enthusiasm, came through clearly, soundings off like a rusty hinge that could stand a little oil. Soon the perpetrator showed himself as a lone rusty blackbird enjoying the fellowship of his redwing cousins. He doesn't earn his name until the fall, when he turns a rusty brown. Right now he's a sleek black fellow, robin size, with whitish eye, and a singing fervor that won't be denied.

Across on the far edgings of the marsh, where nothing but a duck hawk could offer danger, a multitude of blue-billed scaups kept up a constant activity. Some were diving for tidbits, others cavorting about in springtime banter, while still others slept quietly through it all. The little bluebill is perhaps the most common and most numerous duck of the inland waterways, always entertaining to the observer, and a real delight when in driving flight high above the feeding grounds.

Songsparrows love these marshy edgings almost as do the redwings. The little striped fellows were chanting all along the two-mile stretch of right-of-way that I traversed. Here and there on the water were small groups of other interesting members of the duck tribe. I noted the long-necked pintail, and the shoveller, with his large spatulate bill. When he sits low in the water, that bill seems to weigh down his head, and the shoveller can hardly be mistaken for any other duck.

The original cost of the White House was defrayed from the sale of land in Virginia and Maryland.

Dolde Praises WPIAL Cage Teams

"It seems to me that any of the four semi-finalists in the WPIAL Basketball Tournament could have defeated Chester in the state title game." So observes William Dolde, WPIAL president who is justifiably proud of the district's domination of the state basketball crown . . . Incidentally Dolde also reveals that WPIAL authorities made a serious effort to have the WPIAL tournament final between Sharon and McKeesport televised. "By televising the game we would have eliminated ticket pressure," confided Dolde. "However the TV people told us they didn't feel there was enough interest. We argued but to no avail."

* * *

Tony Mascetta, director of the Ozarks Basketball Tournament, is disturbed by reports that a certain Mon Valley coach expressed disfavor with the selection of Washington's James (Beanie) Gordon as the most valuable player in the junior class. "The coach in question saw only one game while the judging committee picked Gordon on the basis of his play throughout the tourney," pointed out Mascetta . . . Incidentally the Monessen Cro-Ams have been selected as the senior team exhibiting the best sportsmanship in the Ozark tourney. West Virginia Mounties won that honor in the junior class.

Class A Football Loop in Trouble

Reportedly the new football conference of district Class A schools has already run into trouble. It seems the Washington-Greene section doesn't want its champion to play against the winner of the Fayette-Westmoreland section. There are threats that the dispute may split the group wide open before even one season of competition . . . Incidentally there's absolutely no truth to the published report that the Big Six Conference is cracking. The only school in the doubtful status is Redstone. For some unexplained reason, the Black Hawks have boycotted meetings called to draw up a formal constitution. The other five conference schools are in complete agreement.

* * *

California High baseball coach Don Cornell feels he has another good left-handed pitching prospect in junior Frank Scrip. "Before he graduates, this boy should develop into one of our finest pitchers," enthuses Cornell . . . The Daily News Baseball League in McKeesport — one of the oldest in the district — will begin its 1957 season on Tuesday, April 30 . . . Rudy Andabaker, former Donora High, Pitt and Pittsburgh Steeler footballer, is currently student teaching in Donora. Rudy hopes to eventually land a job as a high school football coach.

Monessen Women Leading Bowlers

Lucy Faltz, Babe Kroskie and Mary Palm are maintaining their torrid pace in the Mon Valley Ladies Bowling League. The three Monessen Fifth Avenue standouts are averaging 156, 150 and 147, respectively . . . McKeesport High basketball coach Neenie Campbell was honored the other night with the Eagles Club Civic Award for his "outstanding contributions to the city of McKeesport." . . . Speaking of McKeesport, a Tiger football product, Ross Fichtner — just a freshman — is making a strong bid for the starting quarterback role at Purdue during spring drills. The Purdue signal-calling spot has been vacated by Len Dawson, a Pittsburgh Steeler draft choice.

Today's Sports Parade —

Mantle, Williams to Stage Batting Chase

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Mickey Mantle and Ted Williams are favored to stage a two-man race for the American League batting title with only Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn given an outside chance to crack through, but in the National League it's seen as a wide-open battle

Hank Aaron, the National League batting champion, doesn't rate much of an edge over such competitors as Stan Musial, Bill Virdon, Wally Moon and Willie Mays

Littler's Game Off

For the last couple of years the golfing pundits have been touting Gene Littler as the "new Ben Hogan." But now the big question in golf is what happened to Littler's game. Little Gene hasn't won a tournament since last April. Opinion is that his swing slipped out of the groove

Wally Post admits that he received one of the major shocks of the spring training season. It happened at Cincinnati's Tampa training base on a day when the Dodgers went to Jacksonville for a game and left Don Newcombe and Junior Gilliam behind to take the train. The two Brooks worked out at the Reds' base in the morning and one wag told Post:

"Wally, the Dodgers have sent Gilliam and Newcombe to the Reds. So soon" probably be with the Dodgers pretty soon"

Shrugged It Off

Post shrugged it off as a gag—and almost fainted when he walked in the clubhouse and saw Gilliam and Newcombe in the locker room.

When the pro basketball draft is held at St. Louis on April 15 Charley Tyra of Louisville will be the No. 1 draft choice. He'll be picked by the new Cincinnati Royals, moved from Rochester.

Other first round choices will include West Virginia's Hot Rod Hundley, North Carolina's Len Rosenbluth, Detroit's Bill Ebben and Memphis State's Win Wilfong. Some of the other All-American including Grady Wallace of South Carolina, are getting the Brush off because they failed to impress scouts as big league timber.

Palmer Eighth in Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., with a second round 73 to match his opening card, moved into third day play at the Masters Golf Tournament here today with an eighth-place tying 146

Palmer and Skee Riegel of Villanova, Pa., who scored a 74 Friday to bring his total to 147, were the only two from a Pennsylvania delegation of five to survive qualifying play

Pennsylvanians knocked out after two days for not carding 150 or better were Art Wall, Pocono Manor, 151; Lew Worsham, Oakmont, 153, and Sam Parks of Pittsburgh, 157.

Palmer, six strokes off Sam Snead the leader, scored a two-over par 38 going out Friday and a one under par 35 on the back nine.

Pirates Take on Red Sox

SARASOTA, Fla. (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, nearing the end of their exhibition schedule, meet the Boston Redsox today with pitcher Ron Kline scheduled for duty.

The Pirates were idle Friday and close training quarters at Fort Myers Monday after a rematch with the Redsox. Pittsburgh will work its way back to Forbes Field with a series of Grapefruit League contests through the South.

Only activity on the calendar for Friday was an intra-squad game which ended with the Mazeroski's edging the Pritchards, 12-11.

Roberto Clemente is believed to have told General Manager Joe Brown he will return home to Puerto Rico if his ailing back doesn't start to mend. There are no plans to have the outfielder's back examined by specialists Clemente hit .311 last season.

Pitcher Paul Minner of New Wilmington, Pa., said the Pirate management informed him he would not be needed on the squad

Minner, a free agent who was paid $2,500 to try out, said he had no regrets on leaving. "It was a nice paid vacation."

Phillies Doomed Again to NL's Second Division

By LEO H. PETERSEN

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UP)—Unless they come up with a high class shortstop, the Philadelphia Phillies appear doomed to another second division finish.

Manager Mayo Smith feels he has championship pitching, but admits he has "a glaring weakness at shortstop and we might have a gap in right field, too."

However, he doesn't agree with those who feel the Phillies lost power when they traded Del Ennis to the Cardinals for Rip Repulski.

"Rip hits the long ball, too, and don't let his last year's figure fool you," Smith said. "Also, he strengthens our defense"

Repulski out-hit Ennis .277 to 260 last season but had only 55 RBI's to Ennis' 95.

In Robin Roberts, who failed to win 20 games last year for the first time in seven years, and southpaws Curt Simmons and Harvey Haddix, the Phillies figure they have the best three starting pitchers in the league.

Hopes For Meyer

Jack Meyer was a disappointment last season when he won only seven while losing 11, but baseball men figure he has the potential to get into the select 20-game circle He could give the Phillies the best starting four in the league.

Smith also is high on the prospects of Jack Sanford, who got out of service last year, and believes Jim Hearn, the ex-Giant, can help in spot starting roles.

Holdovers Bob Miller (3-6), and Saul Rogovin (7-6) also probably will remain.

Smith wouldn't trade his catcher, Stan Lopata, for any other in the league and declares that Lopata will only catch this year and will not be used at first base. Behind Lopata he has Mack Burk and Joe Lonnett.

The only infield post with which Smith is satisfied is third base where Willie Jones holds forth.

Rookie Has Chance

Rookie Ed Bouchee, who hit 294 at Miami last year with 94 RBI's, will be given every chance to win the first base job in order to free Marv Blaylock for the right field post if necessary At second, Ted Kazanski, another bonus player who can field but lacks power, probably will get the nod over the veteran Solly Hemus.

The Phillies are hoping that Chico Fernandez, just acquired from Brooklyn, will fill the shortstop gap.

Granny Hamner remains a big question mark Because of a left shoulder injury, Hamner cannot swing a bat properly and the former star shortstop is trying to become a pitcher Thus far the experiment has been far from successful.

In the outfield, the fleet Richie Ashburn is set in center and Repulski in left Bob Bowman, a .277 hitter with Miami in 1956, is being given the preference over Blaylock and veteran Frank Baumholtz in right field. Glen Gorbous also is up for another try.

Pierce to Start For White Sox

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Left hander Billy Pierce will start for the Chicago White Sox today when they meet the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game, inaugurating a pitching rotation which Manager Al Lopez hopes to carry into the American League season. Following Pierce in order will be Dick Donovan, Jack Harshman, Jim Wilson and Bob Keegan.

Pirates Announce Opening Day Plans

The Pittsburgh Pirates open the 1957 National League season the Tuesday after next at Forbes Field against the New York Giants, at 1:30 p. m. sharp.

Because of a quirk in the scheduling, this will be only the second home opening for the Bucs in 62 years They opened at home on April 13, 1954.

On the mound for Manager Bobby Bragan's Buccos will be one of his righthanded aces — Bob Friend or Ronnie Kline. Kline had the most wins on the staff against the Giants last season, taking three Giants' Manager Bill Rigney has stated he will counter with his classy lefthander, Johnny Antonelli who holds a string of eight straight wins over the Pirates, counting seven straight last season. The last time the Pirates beat Antonelli was on August 19, 1955, with Vernon Law winning, 8-3

The gala and colorful Opening Day ceremonies will begin at Forbes Field at 1 p. m. In addition to bands, banners and celebrities, the fans will have their first chance to watch the 1957 edition of the Pirates in action, following their impressive showing in Spring exhibition games.

Starting Outfielders

Bill Virdon and Roberto Clemente, the number two and three batters in the league in '56, are expected to open in center and right fields, respectively, with Lee Walls in left. Frank Thomas will be starting the season at third base, with Team Captain Dick Groat and Billy "The Kid" Mazeroski, the key-stone combination and Dale Long holding down first. Manager Bragan hasn't decided as yet who will be catching.

The Giants' flashy Willie Mays who enjoyed the best Spring of his career, will be in his usual center-field spot and the fans will have a chance to see shortstop "phenom" Andrew "Buck" Rodgers, a former cricket player in his native Bahamas who has been drawing raves notices all Spring, in his first major league game.

Important Series

Since it was the Giants who beat the Pirates out of sixth place last year by just one game and six percentage points by virtue of gaining a 13-9 edge on them in games played, this year's series between the two teams has all the aspects of a real grudge fight.

The Giants will furnish the competition again on Wednesday, April 17, at 1:30 p. m., as the Pirates finish out their brief home stand before taking to the road to play in Brooklyn, New York and Philadelphia The Pirates will return home for their first lengthy home stay beginning Friday, April 26, when they will face Brooklyn, St Louis, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Gallatin Meets Vans Tomorrow

Gallatin appears at Van Voorhis tomorrow in the third and decisive game of their Washington County Soccer League playoff series.

Pennant-winning Gallatin and the surprising Vans, who finished strong in the second half previously played two ties in the current set.

League officials have okayed a one-hour overtime for tomorrow's match if necessary.

Homestead in State Volleyball Show

Homestead High will represent the WPIAL in the 20th annual state-wide volleyball tournament at Penn State today.

Other teams in the event are Conestoga, William Penn of York, Peabody of Pittsburgh, DuBois, Meadville and Tunkhannock.

The Steel Bowl began in 1951 with Penn State winning. The next year, Dartmouth and Cornell played a round-robin with Pitt and Duquesne. The Dukes won in 1953 and 1955 while Pitt won for the first time last year by whipping Duquesne 59-50.

Aaron Sets Fast Pace In Drills

By UNITED PRESS

Hank Aaron's .417 average is making it clear today that there'll be no repetition of the spring slump that almost cost him the National League batting championship in 1956.

Aaron walloped a homer and a single Friday to pace the Milwaukee Braves to a 5-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers and raise his runs batted in total to 22 for 17 games.

The Philadelphia Phillies raised their record to 12-2 against American League rivals when they scored six unearned runs in the seventh inning to down the New York Yankees, 6-4. Bob Turley shut out the Phillies with three hits for six innings before two errors got him into trouble.

Indians Win

The Cleveland Indians made it seven victories in their last eight games when they clubbed out a 12-9 decision over the New York Giants. The Indians hacked out 12 hits, including nine for extra bases, and received 13 walks from New York pitchers.

The Kansas City Athletics handed the Boston Red Sox their fifth straight loss and 12th in 18 games with major league rivals when they scored four eighth-inning runs for a 4-1 triumph.

Bob Rush, ticketed to be the Chicago Cubs' opening day pitcher, went nine innings for the first time Friday night and scored a 6-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Don Hoak continued his strong bid for a regular job when he walloped a sixth-inning homer that gave the Cincinnati Redlegs a 1-0 decision over the Washington Senators.

Anthony Stops Spieser in 2nd

DETROIT (UP)—Tony Anthony, a former china-jawed middleweight who became a sensational light heavy in knocking out Chuck Spieser Friday night, today looked past his June 7 title fight with Archie Moore to Floyd Patterson

Anthony, a Harlem musician with a real smooth ring glide, surprised everybody — even himself —by shaking up top-ranked light-heavy Spieser in the first, putting him down and almost out in the second and cleanly kayoing the balding favorite in the third

A crowd of 8,651 paid $20,145 to watch the nationally televised fight.

Archie Moore, 43, fat and fading in the deep twilight of a boxing career that has had a long afternoon, has already signed to meet the winner in the same Olympia Stadium ring June 7.

How about heavyweight champ Patterson? "That's who we're after," said Ernie Braca, Anthony's manager.

Heavy Bout at Arnold Tonight

ARNOLD Pa (UP) — Garvin Sawyer bids for his sixth straight ring triumph at Arnold High tonight in a 10-round heavyweight bout with Bert Whitehurst of Baltimore.

Sawyer, who lost only once in 11 fights, is the favorite Whitehurst was decisioned by Embrel Davidson, a heavyweight flattened by Sawyer at Arnold.

Four six round preliminaries and a four round semi-final complete the card.

WPIAL Baseball Begins Monday

Monessen Will Open Section 17 Campaign Against Bellmar Here

Monessen High's baseballers will open the Section 17 season on Monday, playing host to Bellmar at Ninth Street Park.

Other WPIAL openers in the valley will show Charleroi at California and Monongahela at Donora.

In at least one respect, all teams will begin the campaign on an even basis. None of them has played a single exhibition game.

Charleroi did manage to work in a couple of innings earlier in the week, but that's been the extent of the exhibition grind in the district.

Inclement weather washed out the warm-up games and sharply curtailed workouts.

Team to Beat

The experts figure that Charleroi, defending valley champion, will repeat again this season. The lack of drills will probably work to the Cougars favor.

With little batting practice behind them, the hitters will probably suffer most by the training wash-out And that factor should play right into Charleroi's admitted pitching strength.

The Cougars have a fine pair of hurlers in Carl Witmyer and Ron Zelenski. They are both tremendous.

The only team rated a serious threat to the Charlerolans is Monongahela. The Wildcats still have most of the Little League champs of a few years back.

Both Monessen and Bellmar have rebuilt teams so they should be evenly matched.

Experienced Pitchers

The Canes do have an experienced pitcher in Fred Millard. Behind him are two other letter winners, Conrad Lupori and Bob Beggs Monessen will probably start with either Dan Barton or Myron Seritko, both juniors.

In other games, Charleroi is favored to handle California while Monongahela figures to get by Donora.

Next Thursday's schedule will send Monessen to Monongahela, Donora to Charleroi and California to Bellmar.

Ozarks to Meet Here Tomorrow

A very important meeting of the Monessen Ozarks Athletic Club will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. in the Ravens.

President Tony Mascetta requested that all members attend. He asked them to bring along their tournament tickets in order to close the books on the recent promotion.

A major item of business will be a discussion of candidates for respective club offices.

A little later Baker came back to sidetrack Len Modzewleski, of Pittsburgh.

Baker, who is staying in Pittsburgh during the tourney, will resume action today. His showing thus far has been a real surprise.

Some 41 players from all over the country are entered in the competition which moves to the Pittsburgh Golf Club today.

Snead Leads Demaret by Two Strokes in Masters

By WILLIAM TUCKER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — It sounded like an old story in the Masters Golf Tournament today with the only two three-time winners chasing each other down the stretch — but Sam Snead had two strokes and two years over Jimmy Demaret.

Snead, playing a perilous game that saw him recoup from a double-bogey with a daring eagle for a second round 68, led the field with 140 after 36 holes. Demaret, whose only throw-back to his former carefree self was a pair of kelly-green shoes, attacked the exacting Augusta National course with precision Friday to score a two-under 70 and trail Snead by two strokes at 142.

But if he fooled the crowd with a conservative brown-and-tan attire to match his serious game, Demaret couldn't fool the calendar which marked him for a 47th birthday soon.

Snead Annually Consistent

Snead, at 45, had the advantage of being a consistent top man in recent years in this toughest of pressure tournaments. Demaret hadn't been in the low 24 since he won the Masters in 1950 and may have forgotten what it's like.

Both had major antagonists out of the way in their drive for top Masters money when Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecoff surprisingly failed to measure up to the 150 second-round qualifying score Friday. For the first time, the Masters field was cut to the low 40 players after the second day's play.

A cluster of challengers, including defending champion Jackie Burke, stood close behind Snead and Demaret.

Burke, who led the first round with 71 and shot an even-par 72 was only one stroke behind Demaret at 143. Ed Furgol had an even-par 144 as did steady amateur Harvey Ward.

Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., had 145 and a host waited a 146 to test the leaders.

With the field cut drastically, the tournament starts at noon today instead of the usual mid-morning tee-up.

Hard-Earned Lead

Snead played his characteristic up and down game as he conquered wind and water for his hard-earned lead. The straw-hatted West Virginian almost counted himself out of the running when he drove into a lake on the par three 12th and took a penalty stroke and two-putt for a double-bogey.

But up against a south wind that caused Demaret to play safe for a par on the 15th, Snead drove into its face on his second shot to reach the green and hole a 25 foot putt for an eagle.

Demaret never came close to trouble as he breezed through the front nine with a three-under 33. But he tightened at the end and missed two putts that were less than a yeard's length for a second-round 70.

Burke, who had the only opening round under par at 71, made one bogey and one birdie for a standard par 72.

Discuss Plans For Second Pro Grid League

BALTIMORE (UP) — Insisting that the time is ripe for a new professional football circuit, representatives from 13 cities meet behind closed doors today to begin mapping plans.

Gerald H. Cooper, an attorney who serves as secretary-treasurer of the United States Football League, Inc., and spokesman for the new group, said Friday that "interested" parties from the 13 cities were asked to attend the meeting to "formulate plans and see what local conditions are for each individual team."

Invited to the meeting were delegates from Miami, Atlanta, New Orleans, Louisville, St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Houston, Boston, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

Cooper said he was "fairly certain" that a new league would be in operation by 1958, but was quick to point out that under no circumstances would it be in competition with the National Football League. He said that the new league would respect all NFL contracts and would operate during the week instead of on weekends, as the NFL does.

Phillies Secure Young Shortstop From Brooklyn

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UP)—The Philadelphia Phillies' desperate search for a successor to shortstop Granny Hamner ended today with the acquisition of Chico Fernandez from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Once regarded as a threat to PeeWee Reese's job, the 25-year old Fernandez was obtained by the Phillies for outfielder Elmo Valo, pitcher Ron Negray, three minor league players and an estimated $75,000. Two of the minor leaguers were shortstop Mel Geho and first-baseman Tom Harkness. The third will be sent to the Dodgers next week.

Fernandez hit .227 in 34 games for the Dodgers and .277 in 89 games for the Montreal Royals last season. For a time it was believed he might take over the Dodgers' shortstop spot with Reese moving to third.

Valo, a 36-year-old veteran of 13 major league seasons, will be retained by the Dodgers as a left-handed pinch-hitter.

Virdon currently is clipping along at a .436 clip in Grapefruit League games and leads the Pirates in runs batted in with 14 and homers with three.

Boston Takes on St. Louis in Floor Action

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Pro basketball's haves and have-nots, the Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks, will meet tonight in the third playoff game for the National Basketball Association championship.

All even at one victory apiece, the teams will meet again Sunday, then move back to Boston for the fifth game Tuesday. Should a sixth game be necessary in the best-of-seven series, it will be played here Thursday.

The Celts have a balanced club with veterans Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman and rookies Tom Heinsohn and Bill Russell. These top stars, along with impressive bench strength, have earned the team many experts' rating as the best ever assembled.

The Hawks, on the other hand, appeared on the basis of most of the season's play to have only Bob Pettit, a man with all the shots and terrific scoring ability.

They muddled through with most of the load on Pettit until they obtained play-maker Slater Martin in a trade.

Mounties Seventh In Win Margin

West Virginia stood seventh in the country among major college basketball teams in average scoring margin over its opposition, according to final NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today.

The Mountaineers maintained a 12.6-point spread in scoring 84.1 points per game to the opponents' 71.5.

The team also tied for ninth nationally in scoring average, placed 20th in rebounding by getting 55.4 percent of the rebounds in each game, and tied for 24th in field-goal percentage by shooting at 41.6-percent rate.

Individually, All-American Rod Hundley tied for 20th in scoring with his 23.1-point gait and Lloyd Sharrar tied for 28th in rebounding with 15.7 percent of the recoveries in each game.

Middlecoff Is Golf Favorite

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P) —Cary Middlecoff, the 1956 U.S. Open champion, has been installed the 4-1 favorite in the latest official rundown of odds for the fifth annual $38,500 Tournament of Champions here, April 18-21. Gene Littler, Ted Kroll and Mike Souchak are tied for second at 8-1.

Leading Canadien Golfer Marries

TORONTO (UP)—Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Int., Canada's leading woman golfer, was married Friday to financier Douglas Streit. After a honeymoon trip to Florida and Bermuda, the 22-year-old amateur champion will return to competitive golf.

Crown More Mat Champs

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Bill Kerslake of Cleveland, who never won an intercollegiate mat title while earning an engineering degree, primed today for his fourth straight hat trick triumph at the AAU wrestling championships.

Kerslake won his fifth-straight AAU free-style heavyweight crown Friday night by pinning Clayton Cravath of the Third Army in 3:45 with a leg lift and a crotch hold.

Today he enters the Greco-Roman competition which he has won three years running.

But, despite the Ohioan's magnificent performance, the collegians representing Tulsa YMCA snatched most of the limelight. Tulsa recorded three championships, the team title and the outstanding wrestler award.

Doug Blubaugh, who last week won the NCAA 157-pound crown, added the AAU 160½ title to his laurels by decisioning Larry Tenpas of the Fifth Army in the free-style finals.

The Ponca City, Okla., grappler, a senior at Oklahoma A&M who manages his own farm while not in class or on the mat, was voted the outstanding wrestler in the free-style competition which opened Wednesday for his five consecutive shut-out decisions.

Other Winners

Joining him in the winners' circle was teammate Terry McCann, 1955 and 1956 NCAA titleholder for Iowa, who captured the 125½ pound event by outpointing Lee Allen, Multnomah AC, Portland, Ore.

Tommy Evans, another Tulsa YMCA entry, successfully defended his 147½-pound banner by decisioning Larry Fornicola of the Second Army.

The three championships, a second and a fourth place gave Tulsa 39 points, more than enough to win the unofficial team honors. The Fifth Army was second with 16. Cooper AC of New York tied with a team of touring Japanese from Keio and Hosei Universities for third place, each with 10 points.

The Japanese team took two championships. Mashashi Kokubo of Keio University outpointed Linn Long of the Fifth Army for the 136½ pound title and Takashi Hirata of Hosei University captured the 114½ pound class event on points. He drew with Richard Wilson of Washington, Pa., representing Toledo University, in the final.

Woodin Wins

Tim Woodin, competing unattached from East Lansing, Mich., took the 191-pound title on total meet points after drawing with Mitshuiro Ohira of Waseda University.

Med Turner of the New York AC won the 174 pound championship without even competing in the final round. He backed into the title when Don Wem of the Third Army outpointed Turners' only threat, Richard Francis of the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Under the meet scoring system, a contestant is eliminated when six points are charged against him. No penalty is charged for a victory by pin, one point is charged for a victory by decision, two points for a draw and three for a loss.

The tourney, held here at Waynesburg College, winds up today with the Greco-Roman wrestling which permits no holds below the waste. Winners will be chosen in eight weight divisions, the standard Olympic classes.

Derby Hopefuls In Race Today

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UP)—Four Kentucky Derby eligibles go to the post in a select field of six in the run for top money today in the $52,500 Bay Meadows Derby—with Swirling Abbey and Round Table expected to finish one-two.

The others in the race are Buford, Shoplacerwin, Irisher and Noorrullah. Mystic Eye was a late scratch and Noorrullah a surprise starter.

This is the only second running of the Bay Meadows Derby—the other day being in 1954 when Determine won and then went on to gallop to victory in the Kentucky Derby.

Each mount will carry 122 pounds for the mile and one-sixteenth event.

Fast Field in Race at Jamaica

NEW YORK (UP) —Eight three-year-olds, six of whom are eligible for the Kentucky Derby, match strides today in the $20,000 Added Swift Stakes at Jamaica with a crowd of 35,000 anticipated for the year's first Saturday of racing in New York.

The derby candidates named for the 56th running of the Swift, a six-furlong event, are Missile, Clem, King Hairan, Gallant Man, Tenacious and Double X. Moon Crazy and Jedgar Ruler complete the small field. All carry 126 pounds.

FIGHT RESULTS

DETROIT: Tony Anthony, 173, New York, knocked out Chuck Spieser, 174½, Lansing, Mich. (3).

Haury's Pharmacy Plays Highly Important Role for Its Patrons

It would be pretty hard to imagine a community like Monessen and the Valley without a drug store like Haury's Pharmacy, corner of Oneida and Schoonmaker, to serve it.

Here is a home-owned store that runs an excellent drug department, with a registered pharmacist always on duty and where your prescription is compounded carefully of the finest and purest of ingredients so as to help you get well faster. Just ask your family physician what he thinks of Haury's Pharmacy and he'll recommend it, that's for sure!

Drug stores today are called "second doctors" by many people and there is no question that is about the truth. Your doctor places ultimate faith in them, doesn't he, in fulfilling that prescription the way he ordered it? And orders are followed out to the letter. Your registered pharmacist, remember, has spent quite a bit of the years of his life in higher education, preparing to do this job right — efficiently.

Now during this Spring period there'll be a lot of colds and other ailments that always occur at the change of the season. Mr. Haury has a number of drugs that are satisfactory in the first stages of the cold but if it continues it would be advisable to see your physician. If he orders a special prescription, Mr. Haury will be glad to fill it for you.

And, of course, you'll find many other useful home items at Haury's Pharmacy — baby supplies, toilet goods, cigars, cigarettes, stationery, pens, pencils, magazines, etc.

And a nice-looking and refreshing soda fountain where you can sit and relax during your shopping tour.

You'll like dealing with this home-owned pharmacy.

Monessen Firm Has Many Spring Supplies Here

Right at this season of the year, more so than ever, a firm like the Monessen Hardware & Supply, 109 Sixth street, has many, many items that will be needed in and around the average home and garden.

Most people like to have some sort of a garden if they have the ground and you'll find this modern store can take care of all your needs, with fertilizers, lawn seeds, etc. The Monessen Hardware & Supply is the only representative in the Valley to stock Fiestar, the only Multi Purpose soil treatment, and customers come from all over to purchase it.

The complete line of Lucas paints is stocked. Lucas Floor-Life is made to walk on and is the paint to use wherever floors "take a beating". Lucas Durafilm is a flat wall enamel and semi-gloss enamel in a wide range of colors which will give a real finish to your walls.

By all means get some of that Fiestar soil treatment for your ground.

Fiestar is new — The multi-purpose soil treatment! Plant stimulant, soil conditioner, insecticide, soil inoculant, crab grass preventive — all in one easy to use package!

Fiestar is clean to handle — In appearance dark brown, it resembles in texture, color and bacterial content, the good earth — No "filler" materials are present — One package (50 lbs.) provides the beneficial organic content equivalent to 1,000 lbs. of the finest weed free, insect free topsoil. The simple application of Fiestar as a top-dressing for lawns or garden soil provides multi-purpose benefits, fertilizes, conditions the soil, as well as inhibiting crab grass seed germination and insuring plant growth free from soil insects.

Fiestar as a new process material is not to be confused with chemical fertilizers which are readily leached from the soil. Fiestar is a longterm plant food investment, scientifically balanced to provide such trace elements as calcium, cobalt, copper, iron, magnesium, titanium and tin.

Fiestar as an annual lawn (or soil) treatment assures multi benefits! No further efforts, expense, or experimentation is necessary! Recommended coverage may be readily increased for quick and longer-lasting benefits. Fiestar will not "burn."

Fiestar as fertilizer provides in organic form the essential plant foods — nitrogen and phosphoric acid. No animal excreta are used—Fiestar provides the sustained stimulation required for proper plant growth. Fiestar may be used at any time, in any weather — it is always time to Fiestar!

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Altemara, who died one year ago today, April 6, 1956.
Gone into the light that shineth so fair,
Gone from this earth of sorrow and care,
Resting those hands that did their best,
Gone, dear mother, gone to rest.
What is a home without our mother?
What are all the joys we meet,
When you loving smile no longer
Greets the coming of our feet!
Dearest mother, how we miss you,
Since from earth you passed away,
And our hearts are aching sorely
As we think of you today.
Sadly missed by Sons and Daughters and Grandchildren.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton was reported in good condition today after undergoing a back operation at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Senators Who Named Canadian Diplomat as Communist Are Listed

WASHINGTON (UP) — Chief counsel Robert Morris of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee said today not he but eight senators made public Communist charges against a Canadian diplomat who then committed suicide.

Morris denied there was any need for a Senate investigation of the subcommittee staff, which he heads, in connection with the publication of the charges.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) demanded Friday that the Senate set up a bipartisan committee "to inquire into the circumstances of the publication by the staff. . .of charges against the reputation of the late Canadian Ambassador Herbert Norman, which have become the cause of a rift" with Canada.

Norman leaped to his death in Cairo Thursday. His suicide touched off a wave of resentment against the subcommittee not only in Canada but in Britain and Egypt as well. One Canadian legislator went so far as to say Norman was "murdered by slander."

The Canadian government received messages of condolence from Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, Britain's High Commissioner to Canada Sir Saville Garner, and French Ambassador to Canada Francis LaCoste.

The subcommittee on March 14 disclosed the record of a hearing two days earlier in which Morris said the group had "quite a few security reports which have a great deal of information to the effect that he (Norman) is a Communist."

Canada said the charges were groundless. The State Department disassociated itself with the charges.

Morris said the record of the hearings was not released by the staff but by a resolution signed by eight of the nine members of the subcommittee.

Morris said the resolution releasing the March 12 testimony was signed by Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Mass.) and Sens. Olin D. Johnton (D-S.C.), John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), William E. Jenner R-Ind.), John M. Butler R-Md.), Roman L. Hruska R-Neb.) and Sen. Arthur V. Watkins R-Utah). Only Sen. Matthew M Neely (D-W.Va.), who has been ill, did not sign.

Eating Helps Cerebral-Palsied

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Feeding a cerebral-palsied child correctly is probably one of the best ways to help him talk.

To realize just what a palsied child is up against, try talking without moving your tongue, lips or throat. It's a tough job.

The movements a person must make in eating a good dinner are the best exercises possible for aiding the use of these parts so vital to speech.

Before any child learns to speak, he must first learn to suck, chew, swallow and blow.

A good speech therapist makes use of these actions when training a palsied youngster. And a good feeder can be a good speech therapist right at home.

When feeding a young cerebral palsy victim, place only a small amount of food on a spoon. Make the child use his lips to remove it. Don't make him use his teeth to take food from the spoon and don't permit the utensil to scrape against his upper teeth.

Advise the youngster to chew. In some cases, it may be necessary to move the child's jaws in an up and down motion to show him what you mean.

Also, tell the child to move the food around with his tongue. Don't place the food in the center of his mouth. Instead, place one spoonful on one side and the next on the other side.

Now don't be too anxious to help the child in all his eating.

For example, don't break off pieces of toast for him unless he can't manage it by himself. It's better to let him bite off pieces if he is able.

Like any youngster, a palsied child likes to be praised for doing things correctly. Don't scold or punish him when his eating becomes sloppy.

A victim of cerebral palsy can't help a spastic tongue or a weak athetoid tongue. It's up to you to remind him to keep his lips closed and to use his tongue to push the food around.

If there is a palsied child in your home, you can do a lot to help him right at the dinner table.

Question and Answer

Mrs. T. A. F.: I am 66 years old, and my blood pressure is 180. Is this too high? I was told that Epsom salts might bring it down.

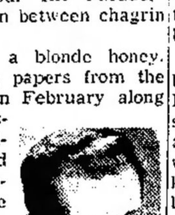
Answer: Blood pressure of 180 is considered to be above normal. I know of no evidence that Epsom salts are useful in the treatment of high blood pressure. Better see a doctor.

Dorothy Collins not Sorry About Leaving

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Dorothy Collins, winding up a seven-year stretch on "Your Hit Parade," finds herself torn between chagrin and a grin.

Miss Collins, a blonde honey, got her walking papers from the NBC-TV show in February along with her husband, bandleader Raymond Scott, and vocalists Gisele Mac Kenzie, Snooky Lanson and Russell Arms. The entire crew will depart when the program ends its current cycle in June.



William Ewald

"People have been saying to me for years—'Quit the show, Dorothy, get out on your own,'" said Miss Collins today. "But I didn't want to.

"I've never been ambitious. I always thought about 'Hit Parade': This is my career, this is what I always want to do. I don't think Raymond and I ever would have left on our own.

"The first day I heard about being let go, I felt terribly sad. Raymond expressed it best — he said it would be like moving to another city. But the next day when I woke up, I felt elated. I knew I was free. It was as if a big load had been lifted off my shoulders."

Miss Collins, who began doing cigarette commercials on "Hit Parade" in April, 1950, and started singing on the show two months after, was not completely unprepared for her departure from the program. She has been taking dramatic lessons since last September.

"I've had all sorts of offers the past few years," she said. "I've been asked to do Broadway shows, TV, movies. But I never really had much time for them.

Select Shrubs, Trees To Beautify Home

When you landscape your new house, ask your local nurseryman to suggest shrubs and trees that will suit your type of home and the way it is located on your lot.

Professionally-trained nurserymen can enhance the beauty of your home by blending it into the landscape. Through the correct choice of plants, they can call attention to the attractive lines of the house and disguise or eliminate other features.

Stressing the importance of proper landscaping, real estate brokers agree that a house with well-kept grounds always has a higher value than one without. Houses with attractive shrubs have sold for up to 20 percent more than those with skimpy poorly-planned plantings.

Tips by Nurserymen

Here are some suggestions by the American Association of Nurserymen to improve the beauty of your grounds:

Don't plant your shrubs in straight lines. Curved contours are usually best. They soften the hard, angular lines of the house.

Trees usually look best when planted a short distance from the house. If any part of your house is exposed to the hot summer sun for long periods of the day, plant fast-growing shade trees as soon as you can.

Plantings around the entrance should consist of slow-growing shrubs which never will reach higher than several feet. Otherwise, they may have to be cut back frequently to keep your entrance walks clear.

Low Shrubs for Foundation

Low, slow-growing shrubs also are usually best for foundations. They should cover the foundation, but at full height should not reach above first floor window sills.

For foundation plantings, the association recommends only shrubs that will remain full and green the entire year. If flowers are planted here they may look lovely for a few months when they are in bloom, but the rest of the time the ugly concrete foundation will be exposed.

Your local nurseryman also can suggest how to use shrubs to solve special problems. For example, an evergreen hedge can shut out neighbors' views of your property and give you welcome privacy. You can choose hedges to grow to heights of a few inches or up to 20 feet.

Another common home owners' problem—noise from the street—can be solved by planting trees on the street side of the property. The association has found that such plantings can reduce noises by as much as 50 percent.

Tap Water Tanks Once a Month

Home water heating tanks should be drained of two or three gallons of water about once a month to prevent the accumulation of rust. This rust will often show up in laundry water or even bath water unless removed first.

Glass or enamel — lined water tanks are not immune to the rust deposits since much of the rust is carried in through pipes.

Keep a galvanized pail handy to the heating tank. About once a month, or oftener if the deposits seem unusually heavy, drain off a pail full of rust water from the petcock located at the bottom of the heater.

Simple System Used to Install Exterior Stairs

Installing an exterior stair to the basement and covering the stair opening with a double-leaf metal hatchway has been simplified with a new method developed by the Bilco Company of New Haven, Conn.

The method involves the use of new steel stringers which are nailed with masonry nails against the cheeks of the exterior stair well leading from the basement.

These stringers have supporting slots especially designed to hold two-inch by ten-inch wood treads. The treads are cut to the proper length and hammered into the slots.

For Old or New Homes

The new method can be used when new homes are being built and also in basement remodleing projects, says George W. Lyons, Sr. Presidtnt of the Bilco Company.

In new construction, stock size basement panel forms are simply logged out from the basement wall line to form an open exterior stair-well for one of the three standard size basement hatchways. After the concrete is poured, the forms are removed and the stringers nailed into the concrete. Workmen removing the inside basement forms save considerable time by being able to walk up the stairs to grade level. The stringers also can be nailed to concrete block.

Having an exterior basement stair in place during the early stages of construction can save builders the cost of erecting tool sheds, Mr. Lyons says. The accessible basement can be used to store building equipment and materials.

If the exterior basement stairs are installed as the first step of a basement remodelling project, they are extraordinarily useful in the following stages. New furnaces, big peices of lumber, sheets of wallboard, etc., can be carried to the basement directly.

In new or old construction, the stairs can be permanently protected against the weather by a Bilco steel hatchway. This all-steel, spring-balanced door is set atop the concrete or masonry cheeks of the stair-well. It is both burglary and termite resistant.

In a survey taken recently by The Better Basement Institute, it was found that a substantial number of home owners throughout the country consider the lack of a seperate basement entrance as one of the most serious planning defects in their houses.

One Cedar Closet In the New Homes

Few homes are being built today without at least one cedar coset included in the planning. Builders and architects say that inexpensive cedar closets, long considered luxury items, are becoming standard equipment even in low cost homes. Do-it-yourself addicts also are finding that installing cedar-lining in existing closets can be done quicky, easily and inexpensively.

Women Prefer Wooden Homes

Last fall at Washington, D. C. at a women's building congress, those attending expressed a preference for homes built of wood by an overwhelming 89 per cent. Now, these women find they have strong backing for their choice from the U. S. Army.

The Alaska District of the Corps of Engineers is going to spend $210,000 to replace 1,900 steel windows with double-hung wood-frame windows and storm sash in barracks at two subarctic Air Force bases.

The reason: Frost builds up so heavily on the steel in subzero weather that the windows are rendered useless for illuminating purposes.

Colorful Roofs Are Available For Flat Homes

Owners of homes with almost-flat roofs can be happily surprised when they talk to a roofing contractor about having a worn, weathered roof replaced.

The surprise stems from the fact that they rarely expect to be offered anything but more of the same colorless material that was put on the house when it was built. Instead, the roofer, if he keeps up to date on modern building materials, will tell them that industry has developed a way to apply asphalt shingles on low-slope roofs and he can show them this material in a wide range of colors, from light pastels and blends to deep tones.

Thanks to improved application methods, asphalt shingles now can be applied to low-slope roofs if the pitch is not less than two inches per horizontal foot. As a result nearly-flat roofs can be colorful and at the same time have long life and weathering ability.

The roofer first lays a double layer of heavy asphalt saturated felt. For even greater protection and strength, he cements these layers down along the eaves with asphalt cement. The shingles are then applied in the normal way over the felt, and cemented down to give the roof more weather-proofing ability.

Many color stylists say that homes with low slope roofs need colorful roofing because even a nearly flat roof is visible from the ground. They recommend light-color asphalt shingles for houses built low to the ground. A light color on the roof makes the house look bigger and taller.

How to Remove White Marks on Furniture

A few drops of camphorated oil on a soft cloth usually will remove white marks caused by placing hot objects on furniture tops.

Rub lightly, then remove oil with a soft, dry cloth and wax liberally.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A MAGAZINE WALL RACK

A wall rack is a handy and decorative way to keep and display magazines.

The project is made of 1 by 8 and 1 by 6-inch lumber. The sides, made of 1 by 3's, are 40 inches long. Round the top front edge as shown. The shelves, also made of 1 by 3-inch lumber, are 34⅜ inches long. Use ½ by 1-inch strips to keep the magazines upright. If the ½ by 1-inch strips are not available, use finished lath or rip them from lumber 1 inch thick. The back is a piece of ¼-inch hardwood plywood.

Mark the location of the shelves on the sides. Assemble the project. Use glue and 6-penny finishing nails. Attach the back using glue and No. 16 brads ¾ inches long. Use glue and 4-penny finishing nails to attach the 1-inch strips.

Round all sharp edges. Set all nails and fill the holes with wood putty.

To hang the rack, attach through the wall to the studs. Use 1½-inch screws through the plywood back.

Rear Entrances To Houses Needed

America's housewives want more serviceable rear entrances to their houses, according to the official report of the Women's Congress on Housing which has recently been released.

The report says women "want more consideration given to the basement in terms of improved livability" and that basements should be more accessible to the outdoors.

Cabinet for Furs Easily Installed

Cedar storage cabinets to protect furs and woolens can be installed in any number of unused places in the home. A two-by-two framework, covered with aromatic red cedar closet lining, can be placed behind doors, in dead corners, beside and below windows, across solid end walls, beside fireplaces and between rooms in the form of dividers.
